Village Real Estate starts first suburban office in Franklin

Nashville Business Journal

Village Real Estate Services has opened its first office in Williamson County in historic downtown Franklin.

This is the company's fifth location in the greater Nashville area.

"Village is dedicated to smart growth and sustainable neighborhoods, and Williamson County has worked hard to incorporate many of these elements into its developments over the course of the last few years," says Mark Deutschmann, CEO of Village Real Estate Services in a news release. "Our goal is to support urban growth in historic downtown Franklin yet help preserve the fabric of the community."

Brenda Tuck Campbell is the new broker for the office. Campbell is a former president of the Williamson County Association of Realtors and former state governor of Tennessee Chapter of the Women's Council of Realtors.

The office will have nine agents.

Village Real Estate Service, which started in 1996, has four offices in Davidson County are located in Hillsboro Village, East Nashville, Midtown and Downtown.
